

ABSTRACT

To develop an enhanced Accuracy configurable booth multiplier for improving the accuracy of the Process. The main focus of the work is a performance improvement in designing architecture of multiplier, where Speed is increased by reducing area requirement. Another improvement in the multiplier is produced by reducing the number of partial products generated. To speed up the multiplication Booth encoding performs several steps of multiplication at once.