

Abstract

This study focuses on the brand positioning strategies implemented by NPT(P) Ltd, a textile outlet in Dindigul, and how these strategies influence consumer perceptions and buying decisions. The research evaluates the company's marketing efforts, product differentiation, and brand identity in the competitive textile market. The goal is to assess the effectiveness of these positioning strategies in establishing a strong brand presence and fostering customer loyalty.